Introduction

Thank you for your interest in the first study by the ManyDogs Project! The information you will be asked to provide below will only be used by the ManyDogs Project for the purposes of anonymous data analysis to understand dog behavior. Filling out this form does not obligate you to participate in the study, and you may stop participating at any time if you so choose.

By advancing to the next section you agree to the use of the information you provide in "ManyDogs 1: A Multi-Lab Replication Study of Dogs' Pointing Comprehension". If you have any questions, please get in touch with your local researchers, or contact ManyDogs Admins via email at manydogsproject@gmail.com.

C-BARQ Intro

The following questions are designed to allow you to describe how your dog has been behaving in the recent past (i.e. during the last 6 months). Please try to answer all of the questions. If you have never observed the dog in the situation described, please check the “Not observed” option.

CBARQ Trainability

Section 1: Trainability

Some dogs are more obedient and trainable than others. By checking the appropriate boxes, please indicate how trainable or obedient your dog has been in each of the following situations in the recent past:

Are there any other situations in which your dog is sometimes aggressive? If so, please describe briefly:

CBARQ Fear and Anxiety

Section 3: Fear and Anxiety

Dogs sometimes show signs of anxiety or fear when exposed to particular sounds, objects, persons or situations. Typical signs of mild to moderate fear include: avoiding eye contact, avoidance of the feared object; crouching or cringing with tail lowered or tucked between the legs; whimpering or whining, freezing, and shaking or trembling. Extreme fear is characterized by exaggerated cowering, and/or vigorous attempts to escape, retreat or hide from the feared object, person or situation.

Using the following 5-point scales (0=No fear, 4=Extreme fear), please indicate your own dog's recent tendency to display fearful behavior in each of the following circumstances:

When approached directly by an unfamiliar adult while away from your home

No fear/anxiety: No visible signs of fear ①	1 <input type="radio"/>	Mild: Moderate fear/anxiety 2 <input type="radio"/>	3 <input type="radio"/>	Extreme fear: Not Observed cowers; retreats or hides, etc. ④ <input type="radio"/>

CBARQ Excitability

Section 5: Excitability

Some dogs show relatively little reaction to sudden or potentially exciting events and disturbances in their environment, while others become highly excited at the slightest novelty. Signs of mild to moderate excitability include increased alertness, movement toward the source of novelty, and brief episodes of barking. Extreme excitability is characterized by a general tendency to over-react. The excitable dog barks or yelps hysterically at the slightest disturbance, rushes towards and around any source of excitement, and is difficult to calm down.

Using the following 5-point scales (0=Calm, 4=Extremely excitable), please indicate your own dog's recent tendency to become excitable in each of the following circumstances:

When you or other members of the household come home after a brief absence.

Calm: Little or no special reaction 0	1	Mild: Moderate excitability 2	3	Extremely excitable: over-reacts, hard to calm down 4	Not Observed
<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>

When playing with you or other members of your household.
